Care Label Responsibility

IMPORTANT: Target may furnish, specify or adopt product specifications, performance standards, drawings, product claims, instructions, descriptions and/or other information related to the goods you sell to Target (the "Specifications"). Regardless of the Specifications, VENDOR IS RESPONSIBLE for: (1) product and packaging safety; (2) compliance with all applicable laws, rules, regulations, standards, codes, orders, directives, judicial and administrative decisions, and ordinances, of the country of origin, the country of transit, the United States and Canada, any state, province, or other subdivision thereof, and any agency or entity of the foregoing, including all laws relating to packaging and labeling (the "Laws"); (3) accuracy and substantiation of all product and packaging claims; (4) evaluating the necessity for, and creation of, product warnings; (5) providing products and packaging to Target that do not infringe the proprietary rights of any third party; and (6) compliance with all terms set forth on Target's Partners Online system and/or any other system used by Target. In addition, each vendor's products and packaging must comply with any specifications furnished, specified or adopted by Target. If a vendor believes there to be a conflict between Target's specifications and product safety, Laws, or the intellectual property rights of others, the vendor must contact Target promptly to discuss Target's specifications and ensure product safety and compliance with Laws. Vendors are NOT relieved from any obligations or liability for any reason or because of any action by Target or any third party including, but not limited to, any of the following: (a) the vendor has received a satisfactory lab test result, (b) Target has conducted testing, (c) Target has accepted or approved the vendor's product, designs, claims, materials or packaging, (d) Target has reviewed claim substantiation, and/or (e) Target has authorized an override of testing protocol or testing results. Target reserves the right to amend its testing protocols and packaging production guides at any time. No subsequent or prior communication between Target and a vendor may operate to modify the obligations set forth in this paragraph, unless specifically agreed to in a writing signed by a Target Vice President or Senior Vice President.
